"LIVING WHIST AND KIRMESS"

THIS entertainment, which is staged and directed by Professor O. O. Sheets, formerly of New York City, and at present of 243 Bleury St., Montreal, has had seven years of uninterrupted success in Canada and the United States, and has been put it on principally for hospitals and other public charities. This unique production has been built up, at great expense, through years of study of the original movements as they were presented at court functions over two centuries ago.

"The Kirmess and Living Whist" embraces two entertainments, the former a German production consisting of nearly all the national movements, while Living Whist is an English military production of great spectacular effect and rare beauty.

History of Hospital

THE JOHN MCKELLAR MEMORIAL

General Hospital, Fort William.

On September 18, 1899, the first public step was taken in Fort William to care for the sick. Prior to that date the Relief Society of the Town had been in correspondence with the Victorian Order of Nurses with a view to sending a trained nurse to the Town to do district nursing. The result of the meeting held on the above date was to form a committee to canvass the town for subscriptions to insure the salary of the nurse. Their efforts were highly successful and on December first of that year Miss Farnworth came here under the supervision of the Victorian Order of Nurses. So highly pleased were the people who had supervision of the work that the next year the scope was enlarged and a Nurses Home established in the double house on Donald street opposite the Baptist church, with two nurses, Miss Cope and Miss Hooey.

In the meantime, during the winter of 1899-1900, several public meetings were held for the purpose of devising ways and means for building an hospital. A committee of three, Dr. Hamilton, Patrick J. Mahon and George P. Pike was finally appointed to elicit subscriptions for an hospital. Their efforts were quite successful in obtaining subscriptions but the best work of this committee was to secure from the McKellar Brothers the gift of a block of land bounded by Vickers, John, Arthur and Ridgeway streets, for hospital purposes, to perpetuate the name of their brother the late John McKellar. The hospital was built by donations from the citizens and by a mortgage placed on the land.

A new and larger committee was formed in the summer of 1900, at another public meeting of citizens, consisting of twelve members and the mayor to act as a board of trustees. In 1901 the board went a step further and secured an act of incorporation from the provincial government to work under a legal form and to give the board a permanent standing. The first board of trustees consisted of C. W. Jarvis, L. L. Peltier, William Stevenson, Patrick J. Mahon, F. E. Trautman, S. C. Young, J. J. Wells, James Murphy, Allan Macdougall, Donald McKellar, W. F. Hogarth, George P. Pike. The first officers of the incorporated board were: C. W. Jarvis, president, F. E. Trautman, secretary, Wm. Stevenson, treasurer, P. J. Mahon, first vice-president, W. F. Hogarth, second vice-president.

During the year 1901 the Nurses Home had become too small and the committee, which was composed of men and women with Rev. W. L. H. Rowand as chairman, decided to move to more commodious quarters and the house on George street now owned by the Commercial club was secured. The head of the Victorian Order was asked to send two of her best nurses and the committee felt she had complied with the request when Miss Banks and Miss Duncan came and put the Cottage hospital, as the new home was named, on a popular and prosperous footing. This place was maintained until the present hospital was completed.

The McKellar hospital board, which had been kept as a distinct organization from the Cottage hospital board, had been working steadily and on October 10, 1902 the corner stone was laid by Miss McKellar, and in June 1903 it was occupied and the Cottage hospital and its board ceased to exist. From the three nurses that composed the staff in 1903 there are now eleven nurses, three graduates and eight pupil nurses with Miss Banks as superintendent. When the effects of the Victorian Order committee was turned over to the McKellar hospital board Miss Banks was transferred from matron of the Cottage hospital to superintendent of the McKellar hospital, and she has served with honor in that capacity ever since.

The needs of an hospital are an ever pressing necessity and the board has seen many dark days in the financing of the institution and in keeping it up to the standard required by its necessities. The Ladies Aid organized in November 1902, has been of great help to the board, especially in furnishing bedding and many other of the useful helps required. An enlargement of the building is urgently required and next year will probably see an additional building started that will cost $25,000.

Increased Facilities Better Service

The Newspaper.

THE Daily Times-Journal will soon be located in its new quarters, with greatly improved facilities, machinery, etc. Increased facilities will make it easier for us to give our patrons a good newspaper, while the installation of the finest and largest Web Printing Press between Toronto and Winnipeg, will enable us to give prompt delivery.

The growth of Fort William demands the best that can be had, and we are glad to be able to keep pace with the demand.

The Printing Plant.

AN Equipment of seven individual motors, and additional labor-saving machinery will add to our efficiency and reduce the cost of production to a minimum, so that our old standard of good work should not only be maintained at a lower cost, but an improvement shown.

If you are in the market for any kind of Printing, whether embracing Paper Ruling, Book-binding, Letterpress, Map or Half-Tone Printing, we are anxious to figure on your order.
